

Export Finance for United States Exporters

Let's say, you just received a Purchase Order from an international customer.

You issue an Invoice to your international customer.

You ship your product & receive a copy of the Bill of Lading.

You pay an Insurance Premium on the export sale & obtain a receipt.

Send us a copy of the Purchase Order,
Invoice, Bill of Lading & Proof of Premium Payment for review.

We'll verify your shipment documents for accuracy & compliance.

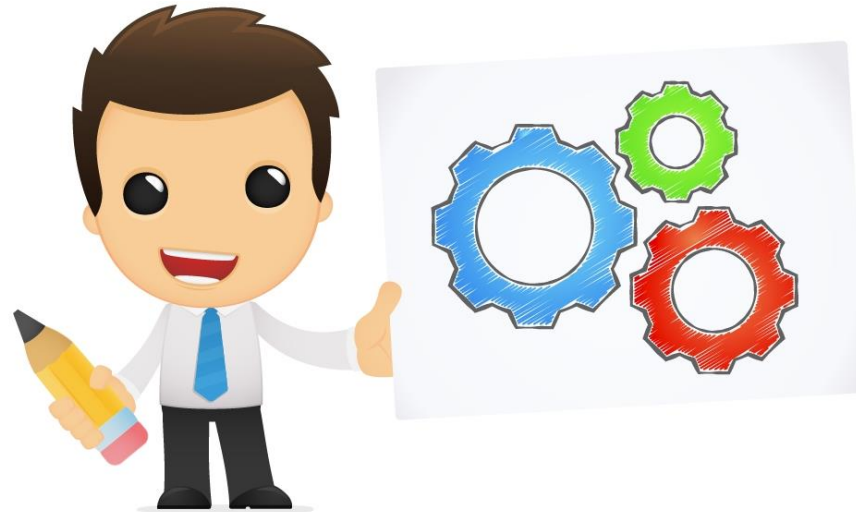

Upon approval, we'll disburse up to 90% of the invoice to you within 48 hours.

If your invoice is for $100,000, that means you get $90,000 now & the rest when your customer would normally pay.

Meanwhile, your international customer pays us according to the credit terms you extend, typically between 60 to 90 days.

Once your customer pays us back in full, we return the remaining 10% back to you. It's that simple!

With our financing, you save time & money. Plus, you shorten your payment collection cycle.

Your export receivable is either bought or discounted. So, you don't create debt & you don't tie up your own working capital.

Instead, you create a more predictable cash flow cycle & gain greater flexibility & control of your sales.

You don't have to chase invoices across borders! When we finance your export receivables, you're as good as paid.

Financing costs can be passed down to customers willing to pay a little more for the extra time.

Financing costs can also be absorbed, taking into account the added value it brings to your export business.

What other sales tool allows you to tap into new markets & offer new customers open account payment terms safely, without compromising your own credit or working capital?

Our financing empowers your business to complete more sales cycles, fill larger purchase orders, gain new customers in new markets & reinvest in company growth.

We Don't Just Finance the World
